

Intended Learning Outcomes
Programme Law (Master's degree)

The programme provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding, qualities, skills and other attributes in the following areas:

A. Knowledge and understanding
On successful completion of the programme a student should be able to demonstrate knowledge and understanding of:	Acquisition of ILOs through the following courses:
1) the process and stages of law-making and to draw up draft regulatory legal acts;	Internship, Current Issues of Formation of State and Law
2) the tendencies of development and functioning of the Ukrainian legislative system and the main ways of to improve it;	Land Law, Corporate Law, Contract Law, Information Law, Tort Law, Internship
3) the current problems of contemporary legal science;	Consideration of Specific Categories of Civil Cases, Consideration of Specific Categories of Kriminal Cases, Introduction to Mediation, Legal Regulation of Foreign Economic Activity, Internship, Current Issues of Formation of State and Law, International legal protection of intellectual property
4) the contemporary European and national mechanisms for protecting human rights;	Fundamentals of EU Law, Diplomatic Law, Land Law, Consideration of Specific Categories of Civil Cases, Consideration of Specific Categories of Civil Cases, Corporate Law, Comparativistics, Contract Law, Tort Law, Internship
5) the principles, forms and methods of legal counseling;	Introduction to Mediation, Legal Regulation of Foreign Economic Activity, Corporate Law, Contract Law, Tort Law
6) the innovations in the field of legal science development;	Tax Control and Liability for Tax Violation, Information Law, Current Issues of Formation of State and Law, International legal protection of intellectual property, Internship, Professional Training
7) the ways of eliminating gaps in legislation.	Current Issues of Formation of State and Law, International legal protection of intellectual property, Tort Law, Internship, Professional Training
Teaching and Learning	Assessment methods
Lectures, workshops, seminars, group work, tutorials, textbooks, monographs, journals, internet resources, e-	Examinations, tests, individual coursework (essays, reports, reviews learning, self-directed and guided study, research projects, contest papers, conducting research (individual and guided by the tutor).	etc.), seminar and practical-based assessment, presentations and projects, mid-term control work, course papers.

B. Application of knowledge and understanding
On completion of the programme students will be able to: 1) conduct legal examination of regulatory legal acts; 2) find the optimal and rational ways to resolve legal conflicts; 3) implement the varieties of techniques of management activities into practice; 4) interpret the rules of legislation on the basis of professional interpretation.	Land Law, Corporate Law, Contract Law, Drafting of Civil Documents, Tort Law, Tax Control and Liability for Tax Violation, Comparativistics, Information Law, International legal protection of intellectual property, Conflictology, Introduction to Mediation, Contract Law, Tort Law, Internship, Professional Training Conflictology, Methods of teaching in Higher Education, Comparativistics, Psychology of Leadership, Psychology of Conducting Negotiations Land Law, Consideration of Specific Categories of Civil Cases, Consideration of Specific Categories of Kriminal Cases, Corporate Law, Contract Law, Fundamentals of EU Law, Legal Regulation of Foreign Economic Activity, Professional Training
Teaching and Learning	Assessment methods
Practical classes, group work, self-directed and guided study, business games, case studies, workshops, internships, research projects, contest papers, conducting research on the topics of course papers (individual and guided by the tutor).	Examinations, practical tasks, course papers, presentations, projects, internship reports, defence of research projects, contest papers.
C. Making judgments
On successful completion of the programme a student should be able to: 1) integrate knowledge of humanitarian and professional disciplines, to seek new forms and methods of management; 2) use on's professional knowledge and practical skills while protecting interests of businesses, organizations, institutions and individuals when performing advisory activity; 3) execute legal examination of documents and analyze of current law; 4) use knowledge for encouraging respect in society to law.	Students acquire skills 1–4 during study of all courses. This determines the choice of corresponding methods of teaching and learning as well as assessment methods.
Teaching and Learning	Assessment methods

Problem-based learning, projects, workshops, seminars, business games, case studies, internships, research projects, contest papers, writing and publishing research articles, conference reports, conducting research (individual and guided by the tutor).	Exams, seminar and practical-based assessment, course work, self-directed and guided study, presentations, case studies, research projects, defence of research projects, contest papers.
D. Communication skills
On successful completion of the programme students should be able to: 1) choose the most appropriate formulas of etiquette in oral and written communication; 2) use one's own non-verbal means of communication in a flexible manner for the transmission of professionally-oriented information; 3) formulate a new legal definitions and render them in a competent legal manner.	Students acquire skills 1–3 during study of all courses. This determines the choice of corresponding methods of teaching and learning as well as assessment methods.
Teaching and Learning	Assessment methods
Seminars, discussions, group work, defence of projects and course work, business games, case studies, internships, defence of contest papers, writing and publishing research articles and conference reports, conference presentations, roundtables, discuss papers and articles in group and with tutor.	Seminar-based assessment, presentations, course work and project defence, reviewing articles, providing feedback on contest papers.
E. Learning skills
On completion of the programme students will be able to: 1) use knowledge to resolve controversial issues in professional activities efficiently; 2) forecast the positive and negative consequences of the taken decisions; 3) undertake responsibility for the results of one's professional activities and adhere to the rules of professional ethics; 4) improve continually one's proficiency in the chosen subject area of the profession, as well as to improve one's professional level; 5) present the results of one's own academic research in the form of research articles and reports at conferences.	Skills 1-5 are developed in all courses and related to relevant teaching and learning methods and assessment methods as appropriate. Self-directed learning forms and requirements for independent search and use of a wide range of sources are the elements of all courses.
Teaching and Learning	Assessment methods
Self-directed learning forms, University library, ICT packages, conducting research (individual and guided by the tutor), writing research papers.	Assessment of learning skills is accomplished through a range of methods, which include assessment of self-directed learning forms, coursework, essays, projects, presentations, tests, exams, reviewing articles, providing feedback on contest papers.