

Programme title: Master in Psychology

Qualification: Master in Psychology

Programme Type: 1,5 year programme

Mode of study: Full-time

The mission of the study programme "Master in Psychology" is training the modern highly competitive, socially responsible psychologist who has a versatile basic professional knowledge and skills, innovative type of thinking and culture, with new life benchmarks; capable to design acmeological psychological space considering innovative development of psychological science, personal requests, needs of society and the state.

1.2. Educational goals of the programme

The programme's educational goals are designed to:

- provide training masters in psychology with the requirements of the labor market on the formation of competencies and increase quality by implementing educational innovations;
- train qualified professionals competent in matters psychological and organizational consulting, professionally capable to solve problems regarding the efficient operation of industrial and business organizations in the new environment;
- prepare qualified specialists who are able to find non-traditional solutions to trade problems, analyze economic behavior, economic activities of people, social groups taking into account the psychological factors.
- provide students with effective technologies (semantic information, diagnostic, correctional and developmental) to address psychological problems of HR organization and implementation of group social-psychological work in the organization;
- prepare qualified professionals for organizations and enterprises who are able to formulate professional tasks in research and practice, the findings in different types of psychological research, to take a reasoned decision in determining the professional acts;
- develop the students' ability to organize the prevention of conflicts, psychological analysis of individuals and interpersonal relationships in groups, owning the psychological tools to stimulate workers requires consideration of potential domestic worker; use means optimal impact on employees to create the appropriate social and psychological climate in the team;
- develop skills in learning to control your units, teams of experts, projects and programs, to form skills of introspection and correction of personal activities;
- form graduates as social individuals who can solve certain problems and challenges of communication and social activities, use psychological mechanisms and patterns analysis of specific issues of business communication; apply effective techniques of conflict resolution through negotiation process;
- improve learning skills that allow continuing their education under the concept "Education for Life" on the basis of autonomy;
- use knowledge of psychology of high school teaching methods to develop their professional disciplines.

Structure of the Study Programme

The Intended Learning Outcomes

The Catalogue of courses